ANDY WILSON
OHIO ATTORNEY GENERAL

Have a creative idea for how to help people with addiction in your community?

Attorney General Andy Wilson wants to hear it!

The Ohio Attorney General's Office is once again offering the Quick Response Team Grant Program to invest in innovative, community-driven solutions addressing drug addiction across Ohio. Private entities, nonprofit organizations, and local government entities are invited to submit creative proposals for new or expanded drug response initiatives tailored to the needs of their communities. Applications will undergo a competitive review by senior leadership at the Attorney General's Office, with final selections made in consultation with the Attorney General. A total of $2 million in grant funding will be awarded to the strongest proposals.
